JUDGING CRITERIA AND GUIDELINES FOR ENTRIES

- Entries must meet the requirements to be considered for premiums, (i.e. number of blooms or stems, type or size of flower). All entries are judged on overall presentation, quality of specimens and arrangement technique.
- Choose a container to best fit your entry. All entries of cut flowers and leaves need a clear, freestanding container that can hold water.
- All entries should be free of dirt and bugs. Damaged leaves, blooms, and buds should be removed.
- Cut flowers and foliage should be conditioned by cutting the night before and placing in water overnight.
- No leaves should be below the container rim. Remove all leaves below the water line. Stems should reach below the waterline. Use wedging to raise flower specimen up out of vase if needed.
- Include name of species on entry tag if not already listed.
- Generally, one third of the florets on a flower spike, like gladiola, should be open, one third show color, and one third should still be green.
- Flowers should be at their ideal stage of development. Flowers and foliage should be firm or crisp, with no evidence of wilting, curling, or fading.
- An arrangement should be artistic design of fresh-cut or dried materials arranged in an appropriate container. Foliage is permitted. Accessories are permitted in specific arrangements only. Foliage and flowers in an arrangement should be arranged so NO foam, wiring, taping or other materials used to hold stems is visible. The arrangement’s backside should be finished with foliage.
- Potted plants should be free of insects and include containers to catch drainage water.
